

Budding Minds

Students of Innocence...

"Education is not just about coming to school and getting a degree. It's about widening your knowledge and absorbing the truth about life, learning values like gratitude, respecting others and showing humility." With these principles, we move forward and believe that each one of us has a purpose in life and is unique in his or her own way. When we blend this unique talent with service to others, we experience the ecstasy and exultation of own spirit which is the ultimate goal of our school.

Head of School

Ms. Ruby Malhotra

"Childhood is not a race to be won. It's an adventure of discovery to be relished." Children are the future of the world, heir to the rich legacy of values and culture of a nation. With this thought in mind students at DPPS are not just provided with the best in the field of education but are moulded to face the challenges of the fast changing and evolving world. 'Budding Minds' the Primary School Newsletter, acknowledges all the accomplishments and mirrors the spirited participation of the young DPPIans in scores of activities, celebration of festivals and Inter-house Competitions held throughout the session.

I congratulate the Headmistress Ms. Vaibhavi Kulkarni and the Editorial Team for their hardwork in bringing forth this issue of 'Budding Minds'.

Headmistress

Ms. Vaibhavi Kulkarni

A child learns best from his surrounding healthy atmosphere both in school as well as at home is very reassuring for children and helps them blossom.

An array of canvas offered at DPPS beyond the curriculum makes learning great fun. The school believes in promoting "Gross Happiness" for optimal learning.

'Mentoring and Honing' is the pre-requisite for a good teaching community, which DPPIans do and practices too. Every child here has a special place & is treated with dignity.

Dear Parents, 'Quality over Quantity' is the basic ethos behind our school's philosophy and this issue of 'Budding Minds' is a reflection of the same.

Happy Reading!
